NEVADA COUNTY HAIGHT COMITTEE WILL BE FORMED

J. H. Jameson, Northern California field representative of the Haight For Governor campaign says that throughout Northern California Merriam is constantly losing ground and if the people will vote according to their conscience and their own judgment, they will elect Haight. He says the race is now definitely between Haight and Sinclair. He finds strong sentiment for Haight in both the Democratic and Republican ranks. Mr. Jameson was in town today to form a Nevada County Haight for Governor committee. Mr. Haight will be in Nevada City next Saturday afternoon and many will have the privelege of meeting him personally.

PUNTS AND FUMBLES

By G. W. L.

THE PACIFIC COAST football prognosticators have decided to pull their beagles in for the rest of the season, because of some very, very numerous dope-upsettings which have taken place on the gridiron lately. The first and most outstanding upset was Nevada's victory over the highly praised Gaels of St. Marys to the tune of 9-7. A young man by the name of George Tharp carried the ball over the goal line for Nevada's first six points. This gentleman is a cousin of Robert Tharp, of this city, and is Bob proud ! !

The second upset was W. S. C's defeat by Gonzaga by the score of 13-6, Washington State was supposed to be the team to beat, after they trounced U. S. C. a week ago Saturday. Washington U. came through to beat Oregon U. 16-6 for the Phelan men's first victory over Oregon since Jimmy Phelan has coached the Huskies. Santa Clara, Stanford, and Washington U remain the only major teams undefeated, on the coast.

The College of Pacific showed what a good coach and players can do by holding California to seven points while scoring six themselves and only errors kept them from six more. Pacific may yet become one of the leading contenders for championship honors under Stagg's direction.

S. F. U. is out for the Stanford Indian's scalp next Saturday at Kezar Stadium. They plan to show that Stanford's victory over Northwestern means just nothing at all, even if Tiny Thornhill did keep Bobby Grayson on the bench the whole game. Personally this writer does not think the Dons can buck the Stanford line, although last year they threw plenty of scares into the highly touted Indians. Right now it looks as though the Stanford and the Washington Huskies would fight it out for the Coast Conference Championship on November 10, at Palo Alto.

Coach Howard Jones must feel very badly, now that his Trojans have been licked twice in as many starts. It used to be a great feat for a team to knock over the Trojans, but now it seems to be the thing to do. The Pitt Panthers certainly did a good job of it back in the East, 20-6 was the score, and Pitt may now feel plenty revenged for the trouncings the Jones men have given them in former years.

JUDGES OUT OF POLITICS AMENDMENTS 14, 3, 4, 5, 6

"Every good citizen should join in the movement to take our judges out of politics and curb crime by giving his support to amendments 14, 3, 4, 5 and 6, at the November election." said Chief of Police James E. Davis of Los Angeles today. Chief Davis pointed out that the California Peace Officers Association unanimously endorsed these amendments at their convention last week in Pasadea.

"No. 14 on the ballot, which is better known as Assembly Constitutional Amendment 98, will relieve Los Angeles county alone. Fifty Superior Court judges will be freed from political influence, their positions being made selective, but their tenure subject to the will of the people every six years. No. 3 gives other counties the right to this relief if they desire, and makes the Supreme Court and District Court of Appeal appointive. No. 4, unifies the law enforcing agencies of the State under the Attorney General. No. 5, permits the judge to comment on evidence and failure of the accused to testify, and 6, permits the defendant to plead as to his guilt before the committing magistrate," concluded Chief Davis.

Chief William J. Quinn, of San Francisco, is another member of the committee working in behalf of these amendments as are Chiefs L. E. Jones, of Richmond; G. W. Griffin, of Salinas; F. W. Heere, of Piedmont; Al Huntsman, of Santa Cruz; Wm. Hallanan, of Sacramento; Mrs. Minerva A. Strohl, president of the Women's Peace Officers Association, of San Francisco; Dorell LaFortune, of Marysville; Chief John A. Greening, of Berkeley; Warden Court Smith, of Folsom; M. R. Spencer, of Alhambra; George B. Wood, of San Marino; Clarence Marrow, of Sacramento; Chief Bureau of Identification, and Chief J. D. Freser, of Glendale.

MINER IS KILLED BY FALLING ROCK

Frank Griffith was killed Saturday at the Banner Mountain mine, while stoping at the 800 foot level. A slab of rock fell on his back from a distance of three feet. His comrades immediately extricated him, but he died a few minutes after arrival at the Jones Memorial hospital. Griffith was single, 40 years old, and had no relatives in this vicinity. Men working a few feet from him in the mine at the same level were not injured at all. The weight of the rock which killed Griffith was estimated at about a half ton.

The remains were taken in charge by Coroner A. M. Holmes, and will be shipped to relatives in Washington.

This is the first fatal accident in the Banner Mountain mine since is has been re-opened.

They rendered: "Floating Down to Cotton Land," "Good News, the Chariots Comin'," "The Bull Frog Song," "There's a Jubilee Way Down On the Old Camp Ground," "Lucky, Lucky, Jimmy," "A Farmer's Life," "Carry Me Back To Old Virginney," "And the Green Grass Grown All Around," and many others of the old darkey songs. Their humerous antics and readings kept the assembly in tumults of laughter. Napoleon Bonaparte Simpson, the second tenor gave the readings. Aramis O'Aragon Fouchem, baritone, gave a solo, "Home On The Range."

LANDINGS

Some ten years ago, a well known columnist, remarked that the day was coming when people of wealth would build their homes on mountain tops and commute by plane to their work in the cities.

The ony thing that might hamper the movement of millionaires to mountains, he observed, was the lack of suitable landing fields.

There are, perhaps, other limiting factors to such a colonization of mountain peaks. The lack of water, for instance which might prove too costly in some soaring locations; the essential isolation of these palatial building sites, which is not likely to appeal to gregarious millionaires, and last, but not least, the decimation which the ranks of millionaires have recently suffered.

These obstacles, however, may all vanish with the march of time and scientific discovery.

The first essential is a place to land, and that, Nevada City is supplying. Before the day of great private traffic on the airport, commuting planes, transient planes, and tourist planes, there will be the interval or period of service when the airport will harbor passenger, express and mail planes, as mutations in routes, planes and human needs arise.

But eventually the day of humanity on the wing, will come as it has on motor speeding wheels. Sooner than many of us may think planes will have made our mountains habitable and accessible to thousands of people who will choose homes in the mountains for reasons of their climate, their health giving, and even more, for their beauty.

"How far to Red canyon?" asked Jim.

"I don't know. About fifteen miles. Don't you remember thet heavy grove of cedars leadin' down into a red hole?"

"Reckon I do. If Hays joins' us there it'll mean he comes by another trail, doesn't it?"

"If! So you figger he might not? Course he'd come around the mountain, or mebbe over another pass. He shore knows trails thet we don't."

"Aw, Hank'll show up on time."

"Wonder if he stayed back to plug Heeseman? He hates thet rustler."

In less than an hour the riders were on the move down the mountain. Packing on the deer Jim had slain occasioned a little delay for all, because Smoky kept them close together. At the edge of the timber belt he halted them again while he peeped out to reconnoiter. Then he called: "Come hyar, a couple of you long-sighted fellers."

They all rode out to join him, where he sat his horse, pointing to a faint blue on the purple valley floor. "Is thet dust?"

Most of the riders inclined to the opinion that it was just haze.

"Ten miles or more back and hard to make out," spoke up Jim. "If this was my range I'd say it wasn't haze or smoke."

"Wish I had Hank's glasses. My eyes are no good any more fer long shots. Wal, let's mosey."

When they reached another turn from which it was possible to look back for five miles or more Smoky halted while the others caught up.

"Jeff, you hang right hyar," he said, "an' keep your eyes peeled on the back trail. I ain't so shore thet gray patch back on the valley was haze. It sort of moved to me. An' there wasn't a lick of wind. Wal, from round this corner you can easy see the cedar grove where we'll hang up fer the boss. An' if you ketch sight of any more'n a couple riders on the back stretch you come ridin' h—l bent fer election. Don't stay long after noon."

Perhaps another five miles down the slope lay their objective to which they headed. The hour was still some time before noon. Smoky scanned the slope to the south and east. It would not have been possible to see riders at any distance, as the rocks, brush, ridges and washes intervened profusely.

"What'll we do, Smoky? Throw the packs, or not?" queried one of the riders.

"Dog-gone' if I know," replied Slocum, peevishly. "It's a rummy deal. Hot as h—l now an' gettin' hotter. I fergot to ask Hank. Reckon you'd better herd the hosses an' we'll wait. I'll keep a lookout fer the boss."

Jim tied his horse in the shade of a cedar, and climbed a jumble of rocks so he could command a better view. Almost at once he sighted riders coming down a wash about a mile away, and he had opened his mouth to shout the good tidings when something checked him.

He rubbed his eyes and looked again. Three riders! Assuming that two of them were Hays and Latimer, who could the third be? They disappeared behind a corner of bank. Jim sank down in a cold sweat. Perhaps these men were Indians or strangers from Hankville, or prospectors. But he had not seen any pack animals.

After a long, anxious watch he saw the three reappear in the wash, considerably closer. The one in the middle rode a gray horse and otherwise contrasted sharply with the dark mounts and dark clothes of the other two. A second time the trio disappeared. Smoky was peering about in a desultory manner, but he was too low down to sight the riders. Jim was now shaking. An awful premonition attacked him. He had met it and almost overcome it as another unaccountable attack of nerves when the foremost horseman emerged from behind a bank. He recognized the stalwart figure, the wide, black sombrero, the poise in the saddle. That was Hank Hays.

Jim scarcely dared shift his gaze back to the second rider, but he was irresistibly forced to. A slight figure in tan, drooping in the saddle!

"So help me!" he whispered, and sank down on the stone. That center rider was Helen Herrick. For a moment a hell rioted in Jim Wall's breast. How he cursed himself for a vacillating idiot! His intuition had been right. He had seen through this robber leader's behavior at Star ranch. But like a fool he had not trusted himself. Jim grew cold to his very marrow. Yet his intelligence did not wholly succumb to his fury. He strove to think. This hound had gotten Helen, just how, it was useless to conjecture. But to kill him then, right on the spot? That gave Jim Wall pause. Hays' men would roar at this deal, involving them in the abduction of a woman, still they would hardly go so far as to resist him with arms. Jim crushed down his deadly impulse. He would wait.

Well indeed had it been for Jim to espy this trio long before they reached him. He had time to recover, to think what was best. If Hank Hays had come upon Jim suddenly it would have been his doom.

One of the pack animals neighed shrilly and then all the horses stuck up their ears.

"Say, I heerd a hoss-shoe ring on a stone," called Mac, who had ears as keen as a horse.

"What's that?" queried Smoky, sharply. He leaped up.

CHAPTER VII

"Look! Riders comin'!" exclaimed Brad Lincoln.

"Can't be nobody but Hank."

Jim leaped off the rock, crashing down behind the watching men, startling them. "Smoky, it's Hays. I saw him a mile off."

"Why didn't you say somethin', then?" retorted Slocum gruffly.

"I was too flabbergasted," replied Jim, coolly, as he joined them.

"It's Hank all right," said Mac.

"Shore, I see him now. Thet's Hank."

"Jim, what flabbergasted you?" demanded Smoky.

"Three riders!" flashed Jim.

"Wal. . . . So I see. What you make of thet?" ejaculated Slocum.

The three emerged clearly from behind the cedars. A blank silence ensued. Jim at last got the tigerish nerves under control. His thoughts were whirling.

"Humph. Little rider in between," commented Lincoln.

"That's Sparrowhawk behind."

"Who's the third party?"

"Hank shore is a queer duck, takin' up with strangers like he does."

"Somebody with a mask on!"

"An' a long slicker."

"Fellers," rasped out Slocum, "thet's a woman with a veil!"

Jim thought the moment had come. "Men, Hank has double-crossed us. He's stolen Herrick's sister!"

Hank Hays led his two followers to within a few feet of the cluster of riders. Jim's lightning-swift glance took the three in, their dust-caked horses, and flashed back to fasten upon Miss Herrick. Her features were not visible through the veil. The linen coat showed the wear and tear of contact with brush. She had on riding boots and overalls.

"Wal, you're all here but Jeff," began Hays.

"Jeff'll be comin' by now," replied Smoky. "Whar you aimin' fer?"

"Brakes of the Dirty Devil."

"I take it you've fetched Herrick's sister."

"You're a bright boy."

"Hank Hays, after all you double-crossed us," roared Smoky. 'You're a liar. You're a cheat. You think you can drag us in on a deal like this I thought you acted powerful queer. So it was this gurl you tricked us fer? . . . You—!"

Jim Wall strode forward and aside, his swift action menacingly significant.

"Hays, your jig's up. She goes back!"

"Wait a minute," the robber replied, stridently. "Stick or quit, if you want. I fetched this gurl fer ransom. She come willin', cause if she hadn't I'd killed Herrick. He'll pay twenty-five, mebbe fifty thousand for her."

Jim interposed again: "Hays, you're a dirty liar. You didn't steal this girl for ransom," he called out, fiercely. Then, turning to the dejected figure on the gray horse: "Miss Herrick, is he telling the truth?"

"Yes, he stole me for ransom," she replied, with emotion. "They broke into my room—one through the window, the other at the door. They threatened me with guns. . . . If I screamed they'd kill me! If I didn't come with them they'd kill my brother! . . . I agreed."

"We tied Herrick up before we got the gurl," said Hays. "An' after, we made him promise to pay handsome. An'—"

"That's enough," snapped Jim. "Give me a man or two. We'll take her back and get the money."

FRITZ KREISLER AT MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM SACRAMENTO OCT. 17

The incomparable Fritz Kreisler will appear in person at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday evening, October 17th., bringing to the music lover a concert of the highest quality.

This distinguished artist has played to capacity houses throughout the United States during recent years, and the tasteful ear for exquisite music will thrill to his potent personality. The Sacramento Music Series, in making this the first of five famous attractions, offers to its appreciative Northern California audience Masters of Music, unequalled elsewhere.

DON COSSACK CHORUS IN SACRAMENTO OCT. 27

The Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus will be in Sacramento on the evening of October 27th, for a recital at the Memorial Auditorium.

Says Deems Taylor, celebrated American musician and critic, "The Don Cossacks constitute the finest male chorus I have ever heard or hope ever to hear. In tonal beauty, in artistry, in technical command, and in repertoire, it is well-night flawless."

Tickets are now on sale by Millis Bass at Ye Music Shoppe. The prices are: 55c, $1.10 and $1.65. Special attention will be given to out of town orders, as a block of seats are being held in every section of the house.

Young men desiring a Naval career should file their application as soon as possible with a Navy Recruiting Station nearest their home in order to be enlisted under this increased quota.

ARBUCKLE GROUP BUY G. V. DISTRICT PROPERTY

A group composed of J. H. Rose, C. N. Symms, Dr. W. F. Harlan and Mrs. Robt. Gabby, all of Arbuckle, Colusa county, have bought 400 acres of prospective mining land in the Grass Valley district, about 2 miles south of the Mattie mine.

From Aunt Sarah

So many of the dark cakes are expensive, complicated and difficult to make, but here's one that you can put to-gether quickly. Just to read the recipe will make your mouth water.

Red Devil Cake

1½ cups sugar.
2 squares unsweetened chocolate or four tablespoons of ground chocolate.
3 eggs.
1 teaspoon soda (level).
2 cups flour.
½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter and the sugar together, add the chocolate which has been melted over hot water, add the yolks of the eggs, one at a time, beating well each time.

Sift the soda and flour together several times and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add the vanilla. Then fold in the well beaten whites and bake in layers in a moderate oven.

This mixture is delicious to use for sup cakes, it makes a dozen or so. Soft carmel frosting tops them off beautifully.

Soft Carmen Frosting

1 cup white sugar.
1 cup brown sugar.
1 very scant ½ cup sweet milk.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook very slowly until butter is melted. Then boil up once for about half a minute. Whip until cool and of a consistency to spread. Delicious with nuts added while whipping.

105 CARS OF FRUIT ARE SHIPPED FROM THIS AREA

The fruit season in Nevada county is two weeks shorter this year than usual on account of the dry season, normally it is eight weeks. The Chicago Park and Grass Valley packing houses both closed about three weeks ago. The Grass Valley packing house was enlarged this year. The Nevada City, Grass Valley and Chicago Park areas shipped 105 standard gauge railroad cars of fruit this season, which consisted of Bartlett and Winter Nellys pears and a few cars of plums. All of this fruit was shipped to eastern markets with two or three cars going to Canada. Fruit from this section is firm and shipped to be sold in the markets, while the valley pears are shipped more to canneries.

SPRING HILL FOREMAN IS TRANSFERRED SIERRA CO.

C. J. Harry, foreman at the Spring Hill mine, Grass Valley, has been transferred by General Manager H. R. Plate to take charge of Plate's Sierra county properties, the Young America, Phoenix and Euclid mines, located on Upper Sardine Lake.

MATTIE GOLD MINE SHAFT NEAR 800 FT.

Superintendent McGuire, of the Mattie Gold Mining Company, 3½ miles southwest of Grass Valley, is putting down a straight three compartment 5x14 foot inside measurement, shaft, now nearing 800 feet, in the present sinking program of 1000 ing 5 feet per day, including timber feet. He broke all records, completing, at a cost below estimate. His crew handled 540 cubic feet of hard rock each day. In addition exploration is now in progress at the 730 and 600 foot levels. It is expected to intersect a 5-foot vein, encountered at 62-0 feet after 80 feet on the lower drift.

McGuire reports 32 men working three shifts and that he now has all necessary equipment to work a depth of 1000 feet. The property is equipped with electric power on the surface as well as throughout the underground workings; air, water and telephone lines installed; double hoist, drill sharpener, 750 cubic foot compressor, suitable for ten to twelve drills, station pump and two Byron Jackson pumps. Buildings consist of new completely equipped assay office, mine office, storehouses, machine and blacksmith shops.

Controlling an area of high class properties comprising 2200 acres, second only in extent to the holdings of the Newmont Corporation, and backed in its judgment by the reports of leading California engineers, many prominent bay district business men, successful in previous mining enterprises, have become financially interested in the Mattie Company.

Associated with Mr. J. Berger, known as a producer of many millions in the gold mining industry, are a number of well known San Franciscans, including C. L. Best, head of the Caterpillad Tractor Co., J. T. Young, president and general manager of the Western States Grocery Company, and W. R. Griswold, attorney for the Safeway Stroes.

The Mattie property consists of the holdings of the following formerly operating companies: The Alcalde Group, the Normandie Co., the California Mining Co., the South Star Mining Co., and the Standard claims, totaling in all 2200 acres and lying 1½ miles to the west of the famous North Star property.—From Western Mining News.

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Alexander McNulty

THE N. H. A.

From all sides comes acclaim and hearty approval of the Administration's National Housing Act, now being so vigorously publicized. It is indeed a pleasure to record an initiative involving the principles and amounts of money involved in this project; wherein there is such a dearth of criticism.

It is indeed an ideally conceived proposition from all angles. First, and of utmost importance is its effect. It is estimated that within the United States there are more than sixteen and a half million homes in need of repairs and modernization that could potentially come under this act. It is estimated that within fourteen months the project will give employment to five million men and that it will put into active circulation over one and one half billion dollars of private capital.

A program of such magniture will tremendously stimulate all industry. The lumber, cement, hardware, furniture—in fact a host of lines will feel the impulse.

It is true that the project is to be carried out by means of private capital. It is in this matter of its financing that we have an innovation that may well be of great importance.

Consider this: If you own a home, no matter how heavily mortgaged, and if you have an income, whether from wages or other source—you may borrow from your bank, if it is authorized to make such loans under the Act—sufficient money for the purpose of modernizing your home—on your promissory note and at a total interest rate of not to exceed five dollars per hundred dollars per year including all discounts etc. It is true that the amount you may borrow is limited by your income. The point is, however, that such notes do not require endorsers, and the only security required supposedly is 'character'. The notes will run from one to three years and will be amortized by monthly or other periodical payments. The joker is, of course, that these notes are under written or guaranteed by the Federal Government, thereby eliminating the danger of loss to banks making such loans.

The point of greatest interest however, and the precedent it establishes is the relatively low rate of interest for this type of loan.

ORGANIZED LABORS' MAIN GOAL

In the fight that the A. F. of L., is making for the reduced working week in order to spread work, or in other words to eliminate unemployment, too much public support cannot be given. In carrying out the fight President Green is to be commended. Regardless of all propaganda to the contrary, to whoever will give the matter thought it must be by now clearly evident that if our civilization continues in making use of our present day high mechanical efficiency but does not desire a permanent standing army of unemployed; then some method of dividing such work as there is among such workers as there are, must be devised. The remedy that the A. F. of L., offers, that the thirty hour working week is a step in this direction. Of equal importance is the maintenance of a minimum scale of wage to fit this shortened work week that will permit of a reasonable standard of living. It is of vital importance that the purchasing power of labor considered as a whole be restored and maintained.

Opponents of these measures are in many cases convincing in their arguments. Any fair analysis however, of their criticism; because criticism it merely is and does not offer any reasonable alternative; reveals that such opposition arises from purely selfish interests that would be temporarily forced to forego profits. They do not see, or do not wish to see that in society where every one would be gainfully employed, conditions would swiftly adjust themselves to meet a new situation that would be fundamentally healthy economically. In this fight, which really is and should be of greatest interest to every tax payer, every voter can do his part of urging his representatives to support legislation leading toward this end.

Pres-to-Logs!

"THE MAGIC FUEL"

FOR FIREPLACE, FURNACE, HEATER AND WHEREVER SOLID FUEL IS USED

Pres-to-logs are the ideal fuel. They are clean; easily handled and stored; they make no soot and little smoke; form almost no ash; make no sparks; burn long and steadily; give great heat; and furnish their own kindling.

Each log measures 4 by 12½ inches and weighs about 8 pounds. Pres-to-logs are made by compressing dry ground wood under the tremendous pressure of 10 tons per square inch. This welds the particles into a solid log more than 3 times as dense as wood.

It's easy to start a fire with Pres-to-logs. Just split them crosswise into wafers for kindling, or into any lengths desired.

Pres-to-logs are economical. Almost nothing is wasted in smoke and ash. Very little draft is needed. They burn slowly and steadily, giving forth an intense heat.

The machine, which makes Pres-to-logs under such terrific pressure, was perfected only after long and costly experiment. It is fully patented. There is nothing like Pres-to-logs.

COME IN AND ASK US ABOUT THIS NEW FUEL.

BIG HITS FOR NEVADA THEATER

Barbara Stanwyck will be the steller attraction at the Nevada City Theater tonight and Tuesday in her latest Warner Bros. picture, "Gambling Lady," a film based on the thrilling dramatic story by Doris Malloy.

Miss Stanwyck has the gay and sporting role of a square shooting gambler who plays the game of life with a courage few persons posess, even to tossing away love to save her husband from a crime of which she knows he is innocent.

The picture is set in the gay gambling halls where the idle rich are taken over the jumps for their money by a syndicate of gamblers that holds the city in its grip.

There is a talented cast in which Joel McCrea and Pat O'Brien share honors as masculine leads and rivals for the love of the gambling lady. Claire Dodd plays the homewrecking role, a society girl who stops at nothing to steal another woman's husband.

"THE GIRL FROM MISSOURI"

"The Girl from Missouri," which will be shown on the Nevada Theater screen Wednesday and Thursday, brings Jean Harlow back to the screen after a too-long absence in one of the most entertaining pictures to come out of Hollywood in recent months.

Miss Harlow is seen as Eadie Chapman, on the hunt for a millionaire husband, in a role that only Jean Harlow could handle.

Lionel Barrymore plays the part of T. R. Paige, a financial and political power, who tries to turn heaven and high water to prevent Eadie from marrying his son, Tom.

The son's role is taken care of by Franchot Tone, who was last seen with Miss Harlow in "Blonde Bombshell."

Lewis Stone appears briefly as Cousins, millionaire bachelor, and Hale Hamilton enacts another playboy bachelor who crosses Miss Harlow's trail.

Patsy Kelly serves admirably as a foil for Miss Harlow in her role as Kitty, Jean's showgirl pal.

She first attaches herself to Cousins, but he commits suicide. She trails the elder Paige to Florida and quite by accident runs across his son, Tom. Tom is madly in love with Eadie but dodges the wedding issue.

There will be a matinee, Thursday at 2:15, for "The Firl from Missouri."
